Greetings Alumni and Friends:

Welcome to the Annual Law Day Celebration!

Law Day Activities continue the tradition of bringing together alumni, friends, students, faculty, staff and administration to build stronger bonds, to renew friendships and to demonstrate concern and support for the School of Law.

The NCCU School of Law continues its historic quest of providing the best education possible, of assuring quality in its programs, and of keeping open a gateway to the legal profession for our enterprising, dedicated and energetic students.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

Greetings Students, Alumni and Friends:

I welcome you on behalf of the Student Bar Association to Law Day '85. All of you are a vital part of the success of the Law Day Festivities, which are planned and executed to strengthen the bonds between well-wishers of North Carolina Central University School of Law (NCCU-SL).

The 1984-85 school year has brought forth some serious challenges to our institution; however, we pulled through, largely because of cautious optimism, the joinder of energies to achieve "Strength Through Unity" and the concept of "Excellence Without Excuse — A Shared Responsibility (Looking Back, Facing Today and Moving Toward New Horizons)."

As NCCU-SL continues its mission of providing a strong and quality legal education, let us continue to support it and help bring its true purpose to reality.

Again, welcome to Law Day 1985.

Sincerely,

Michael Eric Jones
President of the Student Bar Association

*LAW DAY COMMITTEE

Dear Students, Alumni and Friends,

Law Day is a time for alumni, friends, faculty, staff and administration to come together to recognize the achievements of the Law School, and to celebrate its existence. It is a special pleasure to dedicate Law Day '85 to Dean Emeritus Daniel G. Sampson for his 35 years of service to NCCU School of Law. It is only through the recognition of this man that we can trace the development of the law school from its early inception to the present.

Looking back and facing today, we can assess what the future holds for NCCU School of Law. Only then can we move toward New Horizons. Enjoy Law Day!

Sincerely yours,

Kirby Wood
Law Day Chairman

Law Week '85 is dedicated to
Dean and Professor
Daniel G. Sampson

Dean Sampson received his B.S. from Morehouse College, M.S. from Atlanta University, and LL.B. and LL.M. from Boston University. He began teaching at Central in 1950, where he served as Dean of the Law School from 1965-1969. Our expert in "Torts" retired in 1984; however, he continues to teach part-time. Also, in 1984, he was named Professor Emeritus, a fitting title for a person who is very dedicated to our school and to the students whom he comes into contact with. We salute you, Dean Sampson!

THIS YEAR'S ROASTEE —
THOMAS M. RINGER, JR.

The subject in controversy at this year's Faculty Roast will be Tom Ringer; he is a man who wears many hats at NCCU School of Law. He is a professor of Evidence, Civil Procedure and Law Office Management. He is also the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. His responsibilities additionally involve operating the Civil Litigation Clinic. In short, Tom Ringer is very dedicated to our school and its quest for academic excellence.

Professor Ringer joined the faculty at Central in 1979. Prior to that, his career found him in the practice of law and as an Assistant Attorney General for the State of North Carolina. He obtained his B.A. from Morehouse College in Atlanta in 1967 and his J.D. from Harvard in 1970.

We students feel very fortunate for having been taught by a person of the knowledge and compassion that is embodied in Professor Ringer. It is indeed an honor for us to honor him at the 1985 Annual Faculty Roast.
