

NCCU LAW WEEK

A Tribute To Thurgood Marshall

1993

"In Honor of the Late Justice
Thurgood Marshall"
1908 - 1993

Greetings Alumni and Friends,

On behalf of the faculty, staff, students and administration of the North Carolina Central University School of Law, I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to the 1993 Annual Law Week Banquet. We continue to take pride in the historical mission of the Law School and in the accomplishments of our alumni who exemplify the excellence of the Law School through their notable contributions to the legal profession.

Law Week is an opportunity for us to reflect on the significance of the Law School's historical mission and its impact on the African-American community and poor communities, both rural and urban, as well as the legal profession. It is also an opportunity to thank the many individuals who support our efforts to sustain our mission. These expressions of confidence enable us to continue providing opportunities for persons who would otherwise be denied the benefit of participating fully in the legal process. Lastly, Law Week is an opportunity for us to welcome the many alumni and friends who are here to celebrate with us as we reminisce on our accomplishments of yesterday and look forward to the challenges of tomorrow.

Mary E. Wright
Dean

Michael Cornell Wallace, Jr.

In November of 1992, Michael Cornell Wallace, Jr. was appointed Assistant Federal Public Defender for the District of Columbia. In this position, Mr. Wallace's primary responsibility is to provide legal representation to criminal defendants who qualify for appointed counsel under the Criminal Justice Act and have been charged with a violation of the United States Criminal Code. Most of his cases deal with narcotics violations in bank and governmental frauds, and firearms violations. He is also responsible for appellant litigation to the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit and the United States Supreme Court.

Prior to serving as the Assistant Federal Public Defender, Mr. Wallace served as Special Assistant Attorney General for the State of Mississippi. As the Director of the Medicaid Fraud Unit, he was responsible for the full operation and supervision of the State's Medicaid Fraud Control Unit. His duties included personal management and budget containment and allocations. Aside from serving as the administrator, he was the chief prosecutor — responsible for all civil and criminal matters arising out of violations of medicaid and health care fraud statutes. Mr. Wallace also served as Assistant Federal Public Defender for the Southern District of Texas located in Houston.

From August 1985 through February 1988, Mr. Wallace served as Assistant District Attorney of the Seventh Circuit District in Jackson, Mississippi. His primary responsibilities were the prosecution of all "white collar" crimes including all RICO actions, embezzlement and forgeries. He received extensive jury trial experience in murder, armed robbery, aggravated assault, rape and child abuse prosecutions. He was also responsible for all administrative and post-conviction remedies.

Before going to Mississippi, Mr. Wallace served as Court Counselor for the Juvenile Services division here in Durham. He was responsible for management of juvenile criminal cases scheduled for adjudication and disposition. He also served as a preceptor for attorneys who had no juvenile law experience. He was also responsible for court ordered investigation in domestic relation matters, when the best interest of a minor was in issue.

Mr. Wallace is originally from Everett, North Carolina, and is the second of four children born to Michael and Doris Wallace. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Fayetteville State University and his post-baccalaureate degree from North Carolina State University. He is a 1983 graduate of North Carolina Central University School of Law in Durham, North Carolina, where he received his Juris Doctorate degree. Mr. Wallace is married to Anita Wallace, and they have two children Michael III and Dana. They reside in Herndon, Virginia.

Mr. Wallace has lectured at a number of schools including Jackson State University, Southern University School of Law, Mississippi School of Law, and Texas Southern University. The various topics of his lectures included criminal law and procedure, child sexual abuse, search and seizure, plea bargaining under the federal sentencing guidelines, pre-trial publicity, and the legal aspects of business.

The 1993 National Client Counseling Competition was held at NCCU School of Law in March. The purpose of this annual competition is to promote greater knowledge and interest among law students in the counseling functions of law practice and to encourage students by contest award incentives to develop interviewing, planning, and analytical skills in the lawyer-client relationship in the law office. On behalf of the ABA Law Student Division Board of Governors and the Competitions and the NCCU School of Law, I would like to thank the judges and clients, who participated in the competition, for their generous contribution of time and energy. I would also like to thank the following contributors for their generous donations to the law school:
